In mathematics, computer science and operations research, mathematical optimization (alternatively spelled optimisation) or mathematical programming is the selection of a best element (with regard to some criterion) from some set of available alternatives.. In the simplest case, an optimization problem consists of maximizing or minimizing a real function by systematically choosing input values ...

The duality gap is the difference between the values of any primal solutions and any dual solutions. If \hat{d} is the optimal dual value and \hat{p} is the optimal primal value, then the duality gap is equal to $\hat{d} - \hat{p}$. This value is always greater than or equal to 0.

Attention conservation notice: Over 7800 words about optimal planning for a socialist economy and its intersection with computational complexity theory. This is about as relevant to the world around us as debating whether a devotee of the Olympian gods should approve of transgenic organisms.

Cela signifie que pour tout x_1 et x_2 de I , le segment $[A_1, A_2]$ de \mathbb{R}^n , où $A_1 = (x_1, f(x_1))$ et $A_2 = (x_2, f(x_2))$, est situé au-dessus de la courbe représentative de f . Une fonction concave est une fonction dont la fonction opposée est convexe.. On vérifie aussi ce qui suit, reliant les notions d'ensemble convexe et de fonction convexe :

1.1.3. Lasso. The Lasso is a linear model that estimates sparse coefficients. It is useful in some contexts due to its tendency to prefer solutions with fewer parameter values, effectively reducing the number of variables upon which the given solution is dependent.

If we consider forward and reverse supply chains simultaneously, the result network will construct a closed-loop supply chain. Fig. 1 illustrates a generic supply chain for both forward and reverse logistics. In this figure, the classical (forward), and reverse supply chains are presented by solid lines and dashes, respectively.
